Advanced higher mathematics students took part in the UK senior maths challenge called the Andrew Jobbings Senior Kangaroo

Recently in the Daily Express, the winner of the Cultivation Street school garden competition was announced. We are over the moon to announce that WE WON!! The hard work of all our students and horticulture staff has been recognised. We have had a fantastic year receiving several different awards for our community to gardening, improving the local environment and increasing biodiversity and wildlife.

earned them a level five work experience award! Excellent work

Our magnificent advanced higher mathematics students took part in the UK senior maths challenge extension challenge called the Andrew Jobbings Senior Kangaroo. This was an extremely difficult challenge and they all did very well, however, special mention to the highest scoring pupils Braden Collins, George Brownlie and Sol Cloughley.

Our S3 students, Mary-Ann, Katelynn and Maisie, finished their virtual work placement with the NHS. They completed the workbook and attended the NHS call every day. On the last day, they gave a fantastic presentation that

The S2 Maths Challenge Club runs on Thursday lunchtimes for those wanting to get involved in a little bit of extra problem solving. Some of our pupils built a tower using origami last week. Many other challenges lie ahead!
